

Michel Bauwens is a Belgian national, living in Chiang Mai, and the founder of the Foundation for Peer to Peer Alternatives, which monitors the emergence, in thought and practice, of distributed networks and the new type of human relationships accompanying them, i.e. peer production, governance and property regimes and their attending open and free, participatory and commons oriented paradigms. He previously had extensive business experience both as an internet entrepreneur (E-Com, KyberCo), and business executive (knowledge mgr. for British Petroleum, ebusiness Strategy mgr. for Belgacom). He co-produced the 3 -hour TV documentary TechnoCalyps on the transhuman potential of current technologies (subtitle: the Metaphysics of Technology and the end of Man), and co-edited the 2-volume Anthropology of Digital Society. He taught at ICHEC-St. Louis in Brussels (EMBA), and Payap University (Globalization) and is a frequent speaker (see <http://www.p2pfoundation.net/Testimonials>) on the lecture circuit.